Fall 2012 General Assembly Schedule: Next meeting: Mar. 27th HUB 330 6PM

Guest Speaker: Larry Backer

Professor Backer researches globalization, especially as it relates to the emergence of ways of understanding constitutional and enterprise law. His most recent work touches on the regulation of multinational corporations, sovereign wealth funds, transnational constitutionalism, and the convergence of public and private law. He is currently researching issues of governments as private actors in global markets, the development of law and social norm systems to regulate business and human rights.

Professor Backer splits his teaching between the Penn State Law and the School of International Affairs, teaching classes in constitutional, corporate, and transnational law and policy. Professor Backer is a member of the American Law Institute and the European Corporate Governance Institute. He is serving as chair of the Penn State University Faculty Senate for 2012-2013.
